

SUIT PROMOTION

South declares 3NT or 4♠.

Teaching feature: declarer has JT9x in dummy opposite xxx in South (or similar). Opponents hold the AKQ. By repeatedly leading the suit and forcing out the top honors, the J and T eventually become winners.

Holdings:

- Spades — declarer's main suit (often AKQ in a 5-card holding).
- A side suit — JT9x in North opposite xx or xxx in South. Lead toward the JT9 until A, K, Q have been driven out. Then J and T are winners.

The trick:

- You must have ENTRIES to dummy after the high cards are flushed.
- Count: after 3 rounds of the suit, only J, T, 9, and any small cards remain. Your J wins on the 4th round.

Things to think about:

- How many losses are you willing to accept in this suit to build winners?
- Where are your entries to dummy?
- Sometimes a defender's discard signals their stoppers.
